Notes:

1. Data up to 12 February 2018 includes young people aged 10-16 years at time of offence, then from 12 February 2018 due to legislative changes, includes young people aged 10-17 years at time of offence.

2. Due to differences in counting rules and definitions, this data should not be directly compared with other youth justice data contained in published reports prepared by external agencies (e.g. AIHW, ROGS).

3. Values may not sum to total due to rounding.

a. The proportion is calculated by dividing the number of successfully completed conditional bail programs by the number of conditional bail programs completed. A conditional bail program is counted as successful when the order end reason is: bail varied or young person sentenced. A conditional bail program is counted as unsuccessful when the order end reason is: bail revoked.

b. "Other" refers to young people who do not identify as Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander or whose Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander status was unknown or not specified.

c. Data for admissions to a Conditional Bail Program is based on the financial year the order began. If a young person receives more than one conditional bail program (CBP) at the same court appearance, only one CBP is counted.

d. Population data up to and including 2017-18 are based on young people aged 10-16 years; and population data for 2018-19 are based on young people aged 10-17 years.
